WASHINGTON, October 14.—The demonstration to-day in honor of our French guests subordinated everything else. Pennsylvania avenue was decorated with French and American flags, and a vast crowd had assembled all along this great thoroughfare long before the hour for the procession to move. The throng near the corner of the avenue and Seventh street was specially dense, and the decorations in that quarter were very elaborate, the St. Marc, the Metropolitan, the National, and St. James hotels being covered with flags. As the military, regular and volunteer, moved along the avenue, citizens cheered lustily, and showed how welcome to our homes and hearts are the representatives of line passed by the quarters of President interest was manifested.
